SUMMARY

A military storage installation is located on the east side of Kamen-Kashirskiy and 42 kilometers (km) north of Rovel (Figure 1). The installation is composed of two storage areas (Figures 2 and 3). The northern area is road and rail served and covers approximately 10 acres. The southern area is secured, road served, has rail access, and covers approximately 25 acres.

The northern area contains three storage buildings, one administration building, and one loading dock.

The southern area contains 16 storage buildings and one administrative building.

No training facilities were noted in either area.

The installation is active and little change has been noted since [REDACTED] however, improvements in photography show buildings which are not new but could not be previously identified. The installation was covered by KEY-HOLE missions between [REDACTED]
